Our world is a crazy place. Technology, though an amazing tool in a lot of things, just opens our kids (and us) up to more exposure to the negatives. Recently on the news, you will see that the Momo movement has come across social media platforms including Youtube. Please be advised that our devices at school are highly monitored, but what about the devices our own personal devices. I have attached a link to the National Online Safety group. It has individual parent safety guides for a variety of apps and platforms including Momo. Whether you are a parent, grandparent, aunt/uncle, or just know children close to your heart, make yourself aware of what is out there and spread the word to parents you know. It is our job to protect our kids from the world...and that includes the digital world.

DON'T FORGET TEACHER BOOK BOXES! LET ME KNOW HOW I CAN HELP!!

App Central:

-Flipgrid

This app is a great way for kids to answer questions in a unique way. They have to use a 60 second video clip to do it. How fun!

-PollEverywhere

This app helps you get instant feedback. Students can answer with multiple choice, short answer and even emojis. Great tool to ensure all voices are heard.

Website Watch:

<https://beinternetawesome.withgoogle.com/interland>

This game site promotes kindness and Internet safety. Very nice and fun Minecraft type site designed by Google!

<https://www.teachyourmonstertoread.com/>

Great website with reading games and skills (which are hard to find on the Internet) all for FREE!
